

Job Title

Sales Specialist (Tech)

Company Description

DG Infotech Limited, a concern of Dipon Group, is a premier end-to-end digital trust and payment solutions provider delivering secure digital identity, authentication, and payment infrastructure for the digital future. The company enables businesses, financial institutions, and citizens to thrive in a connected world by combining innovation with trust. DG Infotech Limited offers integrated identity verification, document automation, and payment capabilities that help organizations operate smarter and faster. Its solutions support both private and public sector clients in building reliable digital services and advancing foundational Digital Public Infrastructure for the modern era.

Job Summary

Seeking an energetic, sincere, and highly motivated professional capable of thriving in a fast-paced, multi-tasking environment. Fresh graduates with a strong aptitude for technology are highly encouraged to apply. While prior experience is not mandatory, ideal candidates must be quick learners, digitally savvy, and committed to building a long-term career in tech-driven sales.

Key Responsibilities

Generate new business opportunities and consistently achieve defined sales targets.

Operate seamlessly across both corporate office environments and external field locations to facilitate client meetings and active market outreach.

Assist clients with seamless registration, account opening, and digital onboarding processes. Master and effectively communicate the features, benefits, and value propositions of multiple digital applications and products.

Conduct engaging presentations, product demonstrations, and strategic customer meetings.

Build and maintain robust relationships with clients across various business sectors.

Coordinate smoothly with internal operations and support teams to ensure optimal customer service delivery.

Maintain active follow-up schedules with both prospective leads and existing customers.

Candidate Requirements

Fresh graduates or candidates with entry-level experience are welcome.

Flexibility and adaptability to work effectively both within the office premises and actively out in the field.

Strong working knowledge of smart devices, mobile applications, and digital platforms.

Excellent verbal and written communication, presentation, and negotiation skills.

Demonstrated ability to multitask, prioritize workflows, and manage time effectively.

A well-established social, academic, or professional network is considered a strong advantage.

Self-motivated, disciplined, highly energetic, and eager to continuously learn.

Willingness to commit to the role for a minimum of 2–3 years.
